

Rulings on objections and requests.

- Rulings on objections may be oral or in writing. Tex. R. Civ. P. 272.
- Rulings on requests must be in writing and must indicate whether the court refused, granted, or granted but modified the request. Tex. R. Civ. P. 276.

Common mistakes that may result in waiver of charge error.

- Failing to submit requests in writing (oral or dictated requests will not preserve error).
- Failing to make requests separately from objections to the charge (generally it is safe to present a party's requests at the beginning of the formal charge conference, but separate from a party's objections).
- Offering requests "en masse," that is, tendering a complete charge or obscuring a proper request among unfounded or meritless requests (submit each question, definition, or instruction separately, and submit only those important to the outcome of the trial).
- Failing to file with the clerk all requests that the court has marked "refused" (a prudent practice is to also keep a copy for one's own file).
- Failing to make objections to the court's charge on the record.

- Failing to make objections to the court's charge before the reading of the charge to the jury or by an earlier deadline set by the trial court.
- Making objections on the record while the jury is deliberating even if by agreement and with court approval.
- Adopting by reference objections to other portions of the court's charge.
- Dictating objections to the court reporter in the judge's absence (the judge and opposing counsel should be present).
- Relying on or adopting another party's objections to the court's charge without obtaining court approval to do so beforehand (as a general rule, each party must make its own objections).
- Relying on a pretrial ruling. See Wackenhut Corp. v. Gutierrez, 453 S.W.3d 917, 919–20, 920 n.3 (Tex. 2015) (per curiam).
- Failing to assert at trial the same grounds for charge error urged on appeal (grounds not distinctly pointed out to the trial court cannot be raised for the first time on appeal).
- Failing to obtain a ruling on an objection or request.

Principle of error preservation. In State Department of Highways & Public Transportation v. Payne, the supreme court stated:

There should be but one test for determining if a party has preserved error in the jury charge, and that is whether the party made the trial court aware of the complaint, timely and plainly, and obtained a ruling. The more specific requirements of the rules should be applied, while they remain, to serve rather than defeat this principle.

Payne, 838 S.W.2d at 241. The goal is to apply the charge rules “in a common sense manner to serve the purposes of the rules, rather than in a technical manner which defeats them.” Alaniz v. Jones & Neuse, Inc., 907 S.W.2d 450, 452 (Tex. 1995) (per curiam). The keys to error preservation are (1) when in doubt about how to preserve, both object and request; and (2) in either case, clarity is essential: make your arguments timely and plainly enough that the trial court is aware of the claimed error, and get a ruling on the record. See, e.g., Wackenhut, 453 S.W.3d at 919–20.

~~Broad form issues.— In Crown Life Insurance Co. v. Casteel, 22 S.W.3d 378 (Tex. 2000), the supreme court held that inclusion of a legally invalid theory in a broad form liability question taints the question and requires a new trial. Casteel, 22 S.W.3d at 388–89. The court has since extended this rule to legal sufficiency challenges to an element of a broad form damages question, see Harris County v. Smith, 96 S.W.3d 230, 235–36 (Tex. 2002), and to complaints about inclusion of an invalid liability theory in a comparative responsibility finding, see Romero v. KPH Consolidation, Inc., 166 S.W.3d 212, 226–28 (Tex. 2005).~~

~~When a broad form submission is infeasible under the Casteel doctrine and a granulated submission would cure the alleged charge defect, a specific objection to the broad form nature of the charge question is necessary to preserve error. Thota v. Young, 366 S.W.3d 678, 690–91 (Tex. 2012) (citing In re A.V., 113 S.W.3d 355, 363 (Tex. 2003); In re B.L.D., 113 S.W.3d 340, 349–50 (Tex. 2003)). But when a broad form submission is infeasible under the Casteel doctrine and a granulated submission would still be erroneous because there is no evidence to support the submission of a separate question, a specific and timely no evidence objection is sufficient to preserve error without a further objection to the broad form nature of the charge. Thota, 366 S.W.3d at 690–91.~~

PJC 314.2 Broad-Form Issues and the Casteel Doctrine (Comment)

In Crown Life Insurance Co. v. Casteel, 22 S.W.3d 378 (Tex. 2000), the supreme court held that inclusion of a legally invalid theory in a broad-form liability question taints the question and requires a new trial. Casteel, 22 S.W.3d at 388–89. The court has since extended this rule to legal sufficiency challenges to an element of a broad-form damages question, see Harris County v. Smith, 96 S.W.3d 230, 235–36 (Tex. 2002), and to complaints about inclusion of an invalid liability theory in a comparative responsibility finding, see Romero v. KPH Consolidation, Inc., 166 S.W.3d 212, 226–28 (Tex. 2005).

When a broad-form submission is infeasible under the Casteel doctrine and a granulated submission would cure the alleged charge defect, a specific objection to the broad-form nature of the charge question is necessary to preserve error. Thota v. Young, 366 S.W.3d 678, 690–91 (Tex. 2012) (citing In re A.V., 113 S.W.3d 355, 363 (Tex. 2003); In re B.L.D., 113 S.W.3d 340, 349–50 (Tex. 2003)). But when a broad-form submission is infeasible under the Casteel doctrine and a granulated submission would still be erroneous because there is no evidence to support the submission of a separate question, a specific and timely no-evidence objection is sufficient to preserve error without a further objection to the broad-form nature of the charge. Thota, 366 S.W.3d at 690–91.
